

GRADUATE STUDENT ANNUAL REVIEW

All master's and doctoral students (excluding J.D. and M.D.) must undergo an annual review of their progress, although a department or program may require reviews on a more frequent basis.

The manner in which the review is conducted is determined by a students' department or program. Departments and programs are required to file a copy of their review process with their appropriate graduate dean or director. Copies of individual student reviews will be kept in the department or program office. A summary report of the results of annual reviews of all students in each department and program must be submitted to the appropriate dean or director of the college, school or center.
