† ANTH 2210 Biological Anthropology, FRSC 2600 Survey of Forensic Science, FRSC 3620 Chemical Forensics, and FRSC 3630 Forensic Biology cannot satisfy both a social science and a natural science requirement of the core curriculum

Courses that meet both requirements of the core curriculum and a department's or program's requirement for the major or minor may be regarded as fulfilling both requirements simultaneously, provided departmental and program policies are preserved. Communication majors may count one communication course in the social science core toward their social science requirement.

Neither cross-listed courses nor courses meeting both a core curriculum and a department's or program's requirement for the major or minor are counted twice for degree credit.
