COMMUNICATION, M.A.

Saint Louis University's master's program in communication is designed to teach students to be conscientious thinkers and leaders who communicate effectively in a diverse world and who understand the social implications of media and communication technology. Through their coursework, our communication M.A. students develop fluency in communication theory that can be used to solve practical problems. Students learn to ask thoughtful questions and find engaging answers by building the skill sets necessary to develop research protocols, evaluate messages, analyze data and share these findings with various stakeholders.

Coursework options allow students to deepen their understanding of communication theory and research within a variety of areas of study, including:

- Health communication
- Intercultural communication
- Interpersonal communication
- Organizational communication
- Media studies
- Rhetoric and public dialogue
- Social justice communication
- Strategic communication

Curriculum Overview

There are three required courses in the 30-credit degree. Beyond that, communication students are allowed to develop a personally tailored program of study that fits their individual goals and interests. Communication students have three options for completing the Master of Arts degree:

- Comprehensive exams
- Thesis
- Applied project

Fieldwork and Research Opportunities

Working professionals and those seeking careers as organizational practitioners may be more attracted to the applied project or the comprehensive exam degree completion options, while students anticipating research-based careers or who might progress to doctoral programs should consider the thesis degree completion option.

Careers

SLU's communication program prepares students for greater responsibilities in a range of professions including advertising, corporate communications, higher education, human resources, journalism, politics, public relations, research, and training and development.

Recent graduates are working for companies such as FleishmanHillard, Maritz, Bayer, the Dallas Stars, the National Catholic Reporter, SLU and Cigna. In addition, Saint Louis University's Department of Communication (https://www.slu.edu/arts-and-sciences/communication/) has an excellent track record placing graduates in strong Ph.D. programs for students who want to continue their graduate work in communication.

Admission Requirements

An undergraduate communication degree or a degree in a related discipline with possible prerequisites in communication research is required.

There is no minimum GPA requirement. Successful applicants typically have an overall GPA of 3.0 or above.

GRE scores are not required but may be submitted to strengthen an application.

Applicants whose records vary from these guidelines may be admitted based upon fit with the program, past experiences or letters of recommendation.

Application Requirements

- Application form and fee
- Three letters of recommendation
- Transcript(s)
- Personal statement
- Résumé

Requirements for International Students

The communication program is reading and writing intensive. International students who achieve success in the program tend to have IBT TOEFL scores of at or above 100/120 Total (25/30 Reading and 25/30 Writing), or IELTS scores of 7.5/9 Total (7/9 Reading and 6.5/9 Writing).

All admission policies and requirements for domestic students apply to international students along with the following:

- Demonstrate English Language Proficiency
- Proof of financial support must include:
  - A letter of financial support from the person(s) or sponsoring agency funding the time at Saint Louis University
  - A letter from the sponsor’s bank verifying that the funds are available and will be so for the duration of study at the University

  - Academic records, in English translation, of students who have undertaken postsecondary studies outside the United States must include the courses taken and/or lectures attended, practical laboratory work, the maximum and minimum grades attainable, the grades earned or the results of all end-of-term examinations, and any honors or degrees received. WES and ECE transcripts are accepted.

Application and Assistantship Application Deadlines

Students who want to be considered for an assistantship must submit their application for admission and an assistantship application by Jan. 31. Find more information about assistantships and a link to the assistantship application on our graduate experience page (https://www.slu.edu/arts-and-sciences/communication/academics/graduate-experience.php). The assistantship application should be submitted directly to the communication graduate program coordinator via email.

U.S. students not applying for an assistantship who want to be considered for admission must submit their applications by July 1 for the fall semester and Nov. 1 for the spring semester.

International students not applying for an assistantship who want to be considered for admission must submit their applications by May 1 for the fall semester and Oct. 1 for the spring semester.
Review Process
The Department of Communication carefully reviews each applicant’s material as a package to gain an overall understanding of his or her background, goals and abilities.

Scholarships, Assistantships and Financial Aid
For priority consideration for a graduate assistantship, apply by the program admission deadlines listed. Fellowships and assistantships provide a stipend and may include health insurance and a tuition scholarship for the duration of the award.

Program Notes

Students select one of three degree completion options:

- Comprehensive exams: Students complete 30 credits of coursework and take their comprehensive exams in their final semester.
- Applied projects: Students complete 27 credits of coursework and register for CMM 5890 Applied Project (1-3 cr) in their final semester, contingent on a successful oral defense of their applied project proposal in their second-to-last semester.
- Theses: Students complete 24 credits of coursework and 6 hours of CMM 5990 Thesis Research (0-6 cr). The six hours of CMM 5990 Thesis Research (0-6 cr) may be taken in the final semester or divided between the third and fourth semesters. For the final semester, CMM 5990 Thesis Research (0-6 cr) is contingent on a successful oral defense of their thesis proposal in their second-to-last semester.

Students may complete no more than a total of nine credits of the following options:

- up to six credits of graduate courses outside of communication
- up to six credits of 4000-level communication courses
- up to three credits of CMM 5980 Graduate Reading Course (1-3 cr)
