

RELIGIOUS LITERACY FOR PROFESSIONALS, MICROCREDENTIAL (BEGINNING FALL 2026)

Religion is visible and influential in American society, including in our places of work. It is important for professionals - e.g., health care workers, office managers, small business owners - to be literate in the major religious traditions that run through American society so that they can serve their customers well and engage their colleagues respectfully. This Religious Literacy for Professionals microcredential builds religious literacy for students as they transition to their careers.
