ACCOUNTING, B.S. TO ACCOUNTING, M.ACC.

Saint Louis University’s integrated accounting program allows students the opportunity to complete both undergraduate and graduate degrees in accounting simultaneously.

This program is designed for students entering SLU with both:

- A University scholarship
- College credit earned before entering SLU

There may be a financial aid advantage to this option. Any semester(s) of unused undergraduate University scholarships may be applied while enrolled in master-level coursework. For example, if a student has an eight-semester undergraduate scholarship but only needs seven semesters to complete the bachelor’s component of the integrated program, the student may apply the last semester of their scholarship (prorated) to the first semester of the master’s component of the integrated program. However, undergraduate federal aid would not apply for the master’s component of the integrated program. In addition, tuition remission is not considered a university scholarship and, therefore, cannot be used for the master’s component of the integrated program.

Saint Louis University’s Richard A. Chaifetz School of Business is accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB), the premier business school accrediting body. Achieving AACSB accreditation ensures continuous quality improvement in the learning environment through enhancements to the curriculum, instructional resources, student selection, career planning and placement and the intellectual contributions and qualifications of the faculty.

Approximately 5% of business schools worldwide have achieved AACSB accreditation. The accounting program is also separately accredited by the AACSB, one of only 194 schools to have earned this distinction.

Requirements

For admission into this program, a student’s overall grade point average (GPA) and GMAT (Graduate Management Admission Test) score are very important.

The GMAT will be waived for SLU accounting undergraduates with a minimum 3.20 cumulative GPA, or a minimum 3.40 accounting GPA, at the end of 105 credits. Students may apply for admission to this program upon completion of both:

- A minimum of 75 semester college credits (including a minimum of 15 credits completed at SLU with a minimum 3.00 cumulative grade point average)
- An upper-level accounting course completed at SLU with a grade of "B" or better

Apply by March 31 for entry into the program for the summer or fall semesters. Apply by December 1 for entry into the program for the spring term.
