Overview
The Department of Management provides practical and career-driven education in the disciplines of entrepreneurship, human resource management and sports business to enhance students’ prospects for meaningful employment and substantive contributions that further the mission of their employers.

The Richard A. Chaifetz School of Business (https://www.slu.edu/business/) at Saint Louis University is committed to providing a world-class management education, with an emphasis on preparing each student to compete effectively and face the challenges of a global marketplace.

Chaifetz School faculty focus on innovative teaching methods that include personal attention to students and assisting with developing internship opportunities. This emphasis provides practical, real-world training that prepares graduates to excel in today’s business world.

The department supports three student organizations: the SLU Entrepreneurs’ Club, Society for Human Resource Management (SHRM) and Sports Business Association. The SLU Entrepreneurs’ Club provides students the opportunity to help operate a small business; SHRM and Sports Business Association offer students networking, leadership and communication development opportunities.
