

APPLIED BEHAVIOR ANALYSIS, M.S.

Saint Louis University's M.S. in Applied Behavior Analysis involves the application of behavioral principles to produce socially significant changes in behavior.

Applied behavior analysis (ABA) is the science of how and why behavior occurs. The science is used to work with individuals and organizations looking to make socially significant changes in behavior, focused on increasing well-being. Those who use applied behavior analysis work in a variety of fields, including working with individuals with autism and other developmental disabilities, those with mental health concerns including depression, anxiety, and other mood disorders, working in organizations to improve culture and performance, sports, health, and fitness, criminal justice, diversity, equity, inclusion and access (DEIA), schools and education and medical health institutions. Practitioners use direct assessments, research and foundational principles and concepts of behavior to design and evaluate interventions. SLU's ABA programs focus on providing students with a diverse set of experiences in the many applications of ABA while ensuring a focus on providing a safe space for students to develop their cultural humility so they can effectively work with a diverse client population.

There are three things that set SLU's master's ABA program apart from other programs. First, we are dedicated to creating a culturally humble environment where students are required to explore their own biases and develop the skills necessary to provide culturally humble services to clients across all settings. Second, students are provided a flat fee for their education, ensuring there are no unforeseen expenses or unplanned cost increases in tuition. Third, students complete their required fieldwork experience as part of the program, providing additional guidance and oversight as they practice their skills and ensuring they do not have to seek out fieldwork experiences on their own.

SLU's ABA program provides state-of-the-art in-person and online learning that prepares students for a successful career. The program has a strong diversity, equity and inclusion focus to ensure students are prepared to provide the best services possible to a variety of clients across settings. Graduates of SLU's ABA program are well-positioned to apply to Ph.D. programs around the country in behavior analysis and other fields. Students who complete a thesis often gain opportunities to present their research at local and national conferences and gain publication in peer-reviewed journals.

Curriculum Overview

SLU's applied behavior analysis curriculum includes two tracks: our research track, completed in-person, and our clinical track, completed online. Both tracks include eight 3-credit-hour courses, five practica, one seminar, and six hours of thesis (research track) or three hours of capstone (clinical track). Students will complete 1,500 hours of supervised fieldwork as part of their coursework, ensuring they are eligible to sit for the BCBA® exam upon graduation. Due to the program's cohort model, most students begin coursework in the fall of each year. The program also offers both full-time and part-time formats.

The program requires 39 credits, as follows:

- Principles and Concepts in Behavior Analysis
- Measurement and Experimental Design

- Behavioral Assessment
- Behavior Change and Process
- Basic Behavior Analysis
- Supervision and Organizational Behavior Management
- Philosophy of Behavioral Science
- Behavior Change and Ethics
- Five practica
- Introduction to ABA practicum seminar
- Capstone (clinical track) / Thesis (research track)

More detailed program information can be found in the ABA Program Student Handbook here (<https://sites.google.com/slu.edu/slu-school-of-social-work/forms/handbooks/?authuser=0>).

Board Certified Behavior Analyst (BCBA)

The SLU MS ABA program meets all required elements for persons seeking a BCBA® certification, including degree, coursework and field experience.

Fieldwork and Research Opportunities

SLU's applied behavior analysis program offers students a practice-integrated education. Students are transformed into knowledgeable and ethical scientist-practitioners prepared for a range of clinical and management careers across the health, education, and social services sectors. Those seeking BCBA® certification through SLU's practicum must complete a total of 1,500 hours of ABA field practicum across five semesters under the supervision of a Board Certified Behavior Analyst® (BCBA®). SLU's practica experience is designed to ensure students master all areas of the BCBA® content list in their first three semesters, expand their research skills in their fourth semester and address a social justice topic in their final semester. The diversity within our practica experiences ensures students are well equipped to practice as independent professionals.

Recipients will also be expected to actively participate in the diversity, equity and inclusion activities sponsored by the Doerr Center throughout the year.

Graduate Assistantships and Internships

By filling out a graduate assistantship/internships application (https://docs.google.com/forms/d/e/1FAIpQLSdNqSum4-se7Fb12RLPwltCdczSKN50Wb\_kfKiQb1KykbLuQ/viewform/), you will automatically be considered for a graduate assistantship or a graduate internship with the School of Social Work. Assistantships are appointed for one year. Students must reapply to be considered for a second year, and recipients are not guaranteed to receive subsequent/continuing internships.

Graduate assistantships are University-funded assistantships awarded by the School of Social Work. They are assigned and funded for two semesters (a duration of nine months, 20 hours per week), working with designated faculty. Benefits include 12 months of health care coverage, a stipend and 18 credit hours of tuition remission.

Depending on faculty needs, the graduate assistant works with one or two faculty members. Time is divided between both faculty mentors if the student is assigned to two. Students who receive a fully-funded University-funded assistantship in one year may not receive it in subsequent years. However, they remain eligible for graduate internship while pursuing a graduate degree in the School of Social Work.

Graduate internships are funded and awarded by the School of Social Work. They are assigned and funded for two semesters (a duration of nine months, 8-16 hours per week), working with assigned faculty. Graduate interns may be assigned to assist with administrative work, research or faculty teaching. Depending on the hours assigned, tuition benefits will differ; health insurance and stipends are not awarded for graduate internships.
