MILS 4010 - Adaptive Leadership
Credit(s): 3 Credits
This course focuses on practical application of adaptive leadership. Throughout the semester, students will apply the fundamentals of principles of training, the Army writing style and military decision making. Students will study the special trust reposed to Army Officers by the US Constitution and the President of the United States—a special trust given to no other civilian professions. Students will also study the Army officer’s role in the Uniform Code of Military Justice, and the counseling and development of subordinates. Prerequisite for this course is the successful completion of the ROTC Leadership Development and Assessment Course (LDAC) or permission of the instructor.

MILS 4020 - Leadership in a Complex World
Credit(s): 3 Credits
Explore the dynamics of leading in the complex situation of current military operations in the contemporary operating environment. Examine differences in customs and courtesies, military law, principles of war, and rules of engagement in the face of international terrorism. You will also explore aspects of interacting with non-government organizations, civilians on the battlefield and host nation support. Significant emphasis is placed on your transition to officership, preparing you for your branch school and first unit of assignment. Prerequisite for this course is the successful completion of MILS-4010 or permission of the instructor.

MILS 4200 - Seminar in Leadership and Ethics
Credit(s): 2 Credits
The curriculum in MILS-4200 is designed to focus on student (cadet) learning, rather than on any specific subject matter. Focusing on the cadet requires student-centered objectives and conscious attention to how the cadets interact with the subject matter presented. Learning occurs during class in the same way it does outside the classroom: Through both structured and unstructured experiences in which the cadets interact with the instructor, each other, and the instructional material. All seminar material is focused on experiential and participatory learning. Cadets meet independently with the instructor to determine both focus areas and instructional schedule. Instructional material includes a focus on the ethics of the military profession, an examination of various theories of leadership, and applied leadership and ethical decision making in historical settings.

MILS 4220 - Leadership & Ethics
Credit(s): 3 Credits
Identify and resolve ethical dilemmas. Refine counseling and motivating techniques. Examine aspects of tradition and law as it relates to leading as an Army officer.
MILS 4500 - Modern American Military History
Credit(s): 3 Credits
A survey of US military involvement beginning with the Treaty of Versailles following World War I and concluding with the current Global War on Terror. Students will follow a chronological study of crucial battles of World War II, Korea, Vietnam and conclude with in-depth case studies from Iraq and Afghanistan. The class focuses on both tactical and strategic lessons learned and the political and cultural influences that effect the way wars are fought. Prerequisite for this course is sophomore status and good standing in the ROTC program.
