

5.3 ADMINISTRATIVE REASSIGNMENT

The University reserves the right to reassign an individual or a group of individuals at any time. This policy is usually, but not exclusively, applied to situations where an individual student or group of students has had recurring behavioral problems or community damage.

Residents of communities (room or floor) with environments that are displaying behaviors inconsistent with the University's mission, values, or policies are subject to an administrative reassignment. If an administrative reassignment occurs, the student(s) will be responsible for any additional room charges that may be affiliated with the new assignment. The Department of Housing and Residence Life will determine when an administrative move is deemed necessary. If an administrative move occurs, families could be notified of the reassignment. Additionally, students may also be administratively reassigned in order to consolidate space.
